Dear Governor Peterson:

Thank you very much for your invitation of February 26th to attend the atomic tests scheduled for March 17th.

Unfortunately, I shall have to be present at the meeting of the National Security Council on the morning of March 18th and I do not feel that I could meet both appointments.

Please express my thanks and regrets to Mr. Dean.

Sincerely yours,

Honorable Allen Dulles
Administrator
Central Intelligence Agency

Dear Mr. Dulles:

The forthcoming series of tests to be conducted by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Department of Defense at the AEC Proving Ground at Las Vegas, Nevada, will include a test of special interest for Civil Defense purposes. The Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and I believe you would be interested in witnessing this test.

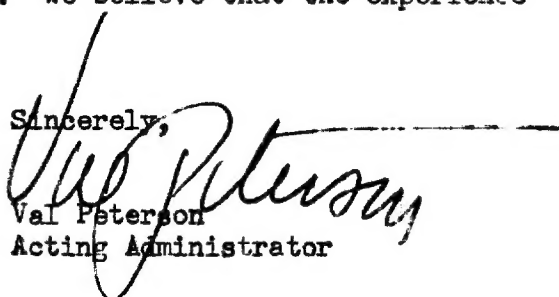

The atomic detonation of primary interest from the Civil Defense standpoint will be on March 17. This is one of the regularly scheduled tests for the development of atomic weapons, but with the cooperation of the Atomic Energy Commission, this Administration has provided a limited number of materials and structures for measurement of effects data. It has also been agreed that this test can be observed by a limited number of Members of Congress, Federal officials, State Governors and Civil Defense officials.

The program includes briefing sessions which will give you information on the scheduled burst and its civil defense implications to the Government and the public. It would be necessary for you to be in Las Vegas for about twenty-four hours from the afternoon of March 16, unless weather conditions necessitate a postponement.

Arrangements are being made to reserve necessary hotel accommodations. We should therefore appreciate having an early reply. If you plan to attend, complete details will be sent you promptly.

The Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and I both hope you can spare the time to make the trip. We believe that the experience will be mutually beneficial.

Sincerely,

Val Peterson
